

CENTRE FOR INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES IN SOCIETY AND CULTURE

Cut 1, Alexa Wright.

Presumed Nature, Emily Jan.

HYBRID MINDS / HYBRID BODIES

August 7–9, 20194th Space LB 103

Concordia University

1400 De Maisonneuve Blvd. West

Vernissage

Wednesday, August 7

6 p.m. – 8 p.m.

Symposium & Exhibition

August 8–9

4th Space LB–103 and the Black Box EV

HYBRID MINDS/HYBRID BODIES is an exhibition and symposium bringing together an international group of researchers across the arts, ethics, medicine and the social sciences to investigate the complexities of heart transplantation. Hybrid Bodies is a research team who have worked together for over a decade looking at phenomenological, socio-political and pop-cultural aspects of heart transplantation and organ donation.

While significant biomedical research has been conducted into transplantation, few researchers have explicitly connected organ recipients' and donors' experiences and cultural views about transplantation to the notion of embodiment, kinship, and identity.

The conference will feature four keynote presenters:

- Heather Ross, Head, Division of Cardiology Peter Munk Cardiac Centre and Professor of Medicine at Toronto General Hospital
- Margrit Shildrick, Guest Professor of Gender and Knowledge Production, Stockholm University
- Jennifer Poole, Associate Professor, Ryerson University's School of Social Work
- John A. Douglas, interdisciplinary artist and transplant recipient, Sydney, Australia

Along with papers and keynote presentations, the event will incorporate art works and creative projects grounded in hybrid art-medical research. The exhibition will feature the works of artists, Ingrid Bachmann (CA), Andrew Carnie (UK) and Alexa Wright (UK), Dana Dal Bo (CA) and Emily Jan (USA) and will focus on the experiences of donor families within transplantation.

We would like to thank Concordia University, The Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies in Society and Culture, the Health Initiative, and Social Science and Humanities Research Council for their generous support.

hybridbodiesproject.comingridbachmann.com

For more information about the conference please see our website:

hybridbodiesproject.com/hybrid-mindsCISSC HAPPENING
concordia.ca/cissc